DEFENSE ISN'T ENOUGH

Within the next few days Paris will be saved or lost. Using tactics which have been successful in every previous trial and bringing massed infantry and heavy artillery to bear on the problem, the German army is confident of another victory. Just as the defeat in Flanders immobilized Britain's landpower until its infantrymen can be refitted, Allied defeat in the new battle would rob France of its power on land, pending reorganization.

It is destined to be the turning point of the war. It is destined to be, also, the turning point in the non-aggressive method of making war. Everything France has done in the name of national defense has been calculated to hold German invaders at a safe distance from Paris. Yet, less than three weeks from the beginning of a task, the enemy is almost within sight of the city. This has happened because by the simple expedient of taking the initiative Germany seized and is holding military advantage.

The German army is strong. It is well equipped. It is well directed by men who have initiative and daring. But it is not and never was invincible. It is composed of mortal men using implements which were available to their enemies. Its feats have not been made possible by its own superiority, which in all probability is not nearly so great as its triumphs have made it seem to be, but by the relative inferiority of its opposition. Great Britain and France were not even well prepared to defend themselves; attack was one of the question from the beginning. And defense, in its popular meaning, obviously is not enough when dealing with Germany.

This is one of the hard truths emerging from the war. It has penetrated American consciousness with the impact of an explosive shell. It is destined to become a momentous issue of policy in this country. Is the United States going to repeat the mistake of the Allies? Specifically, what is it going to do with the prevailing belief that it should do nothing until the war is brought to its front doorstep?

The comforting picture of nations sitting snugly behind their ramparts and sending off trouble is as archaic as the Great Wall of China. The French and British are finding scant comfort in the Maginot line and the English channel these days. Airplanes and long range guns have robbed their ramparts of the security they once provided. National policies of passive resistance, too long continued in the face of dynamic danger, played squarely into Germany's hands.

The United States is preparing for the eventuality of German victory over the Allies and, thereafter, Nazi encroachments in this hemisphere. It hopes the postulation on which its preparations are based will not become actuality. Exactly the same hope and a similar postulation put Britain and France at the mercy of an enemy shrewd enough to take advantage of them.

Americans should be deciding in their own minds now how far their government should go with a policy of defense before converting it into a policy of defense by attack. Once convinced that the Nazi way of life and the American way of life are going to clash on this side of the Atlantic, it would be a denial of the experience of the Allies to let the initiative fall into the hands of Germany. Failure to act on their convictions in the same matter have thrust the Allies into an orgy of destruction from which they will be lucky to emerge intact.

FOR EXAMPLE

Approval by foreign relations committees of both houses of a resolution opposing transfer of any region in the new world to a non-American nation marks a essential first step in seizing the initiative in defense of this hemisphere.

Prime essential in any overt aggression in this hemisphere would be military bases. Congressional approval of a policy opposed to transfer of territory merely establishes beyond possibility of doubt that military policy will call for opposition to any attempt to do this in the guise of reaping the rewards of victory in Europe. It is, in other words, a legal background for a decision the United States navy might be called on to make suddenly.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, June 8

AN UNUSUAL set of circumstances and events may contribute to make this an interesting and successful day. New as well as unique or peculiar interests may claim the attention, and with a degree of success, although an indulgence in reckless, impatient and impulsive conduct may offset or undermine the most progressive efforts and original plans. More constructive may be the support of superiors or the interest of large corporations or even political or fraternal bodies. Social and affectional affiliations flourish.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for an unusual or strange turn of events, with much success and progress arising from change, innovations or unorthodox methods or ideas. But these might be jeopardized by indulgence in rash, hasty or impetuous moves or too strenuous attack. Confer with superiors or with those powerful in lodges, politics or secret organizations. Kindred subtleties and activities may be expected in social or emotional life.

A child born on this day, should be energetic, enterprising, original and creative in out-of-ordinary lines, perhaps in artistic, intellectual or dramatic composition. While bold and audacious it may be subtle, mysterious and have much intuition and imagination.

GAYDA IS PEEVED

ROME, June 7.—Virginia Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, reproducing a purported quotation from Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), declared today in the newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia that it must be established who was the true author of "this insolent provocation."

Gayda said a French dispatch quoted the United States senator as saying that Italian Premier Mussolini "would feel the full force of the American whip" if he failed to heed the peace counsel of President Roosevelt.

Senator Pepper declared Monday that Mussolini would "rue the day" he entered war and expressed belief, as his personal prediction, that if Il Duce continued his "mad way" he would "feel the sting of America's lash upon his body." This, however, was not connected with any counsel by President Roosevelt.

In any case, Gayda declared, the United States should bear in mind that "an ocean stands between words and deeds."

Italian dispatches from Washington reported rising sentiment in the United States for sending the Allies larger quantities of supplies.

Nothing irks a weather blamer more than to discover from the records that the weather hasn't been any worse than it used to be.

THE HORRORS OF WAR

So You Cannot Sleep

Dr. Gibbs Hands Tip to An Insomniac

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"I have a great deal of sympathy for you," said my old friend, Dr. Adrian Gibbs, to a patient the other day. "Personal sympathy. There was a time in my life for a while when I couldn't sleep and I honestly do not believe that physical pain is any more torture than ying awake hour after hour in the darkness and the stillness with a perfectly blank mind."

"People tell you to get up and read a while and not think about it, but you've already read all day and all evening before going to bed trying to get yourself sleepy. You can't turn on the radio—the cause of common humanity for the rest of the household would prevent that."

"And the worst of it was with me that I needed the rest—I was working hard and you would have thought that the amount of effort I made would exhaust me enough to put me to sleep."

"But there is no rhyme or reason to insomnia. You take a fellow who hasn't got a thing to do—too lazy to get a job— isn't interested in work anyway and doesn't need to refresh himself, and he sleeps like der alta Bar-barossa—all night for eight or nine hours and naps in the day-time too."

Gave Up Powders
"I took to sleeping powders, but I gave up. We have some very efficient sleeping medicines now—the various barbiturates—the things whose names end in 'al'. They're much better than the old ones. And I think they're pretty harmless, although there are warnings against them—for anybody with any sense they don't form a habit. I took them for a while and they got me back into the practice of sleep. Then I found when I was going to bed that I would take one just in case. And that's when they began to show their faults—they kept you awake too much! That is the real trouble with the modern sleeping tablets."

"I forgot to take mine one night and I had the most delicious night's rest I had had for a year—so I stopped them, bang off, and never felt any need for them or withdrawal symptoms. The trouble is they keep you wide awake for an hour or two, then they put you to sleep with a bang, and then you wake up in about four or six hours—and I mean, you wake up—with a bang. Without them you add about two hours of nice dozing that is probably the best part of the night's rest."

Wakeful Technique
"With you and your insomnia though, I am going to tell you something. I put a kind of detective on your insomnia when I had you in the hospital making those 'studies' and I find that with your insomnia you go to sleep on the job. You really sleep about four hours solid and two hours fitful a night and that's enough for anyone. I read an article by a lady insomniac the other day on 'The technique of living awake.' She allowed as how it was an inescapable adventure to be allowed to lie awake and we should make the most out of it by trying to remember cities that begin with A."

"Well, you're not very good at that technique. Look at you! You can't be suffering much from your insomnia. You are as fat and smooth as a pink little piglet. Your eyes are as bright, and you are mentally alert."

"Insomnia is wakefulness plus worry. Quit complaining about your insomnia. And take a nap every afternoon. Sleep is a habit. The more you get, the more you need."

LOCK SAYS:

This week 202 Seniors graduate from Salem High School, and millions more graduate all over the country. Did it ever occur to you, how are we going to employ these boys and girls?

Super chair stores are cutting down employment by consolidating many stores into one large store. One chain outfit which operates a store in Salem has thrown thousands out of employment in the State of Ohio alone by going super. Are these conditions good for our country?

Patronize your local independent merchant. By so doing you can keep America the land of opportunity for the young generations now coming into the field of business. Independence made America. It's up to every public-minded citizen to keep America that way.

We are employing additional help to take care of our business, and are willing to employ more. Join our large list of satisfied customers!

and until they were frightened by approaching footsteps.
Also appearing on the stand and testifying as to the routine investigation conducted in the case, were
C. E. Dunahay, former Salem safety director, Harry L. Gosney, former sheriff, and Coroner Arnold Devon.
Ewing Gregg, clerk in the Salem state liquor store, and Steve Costa, tavern proprietor, told the jury that establishments which Ludwig and Drotleff were alleged to have visited the night of the crime, corroborated testimony of their visits.
This morning Marion Hannay, employee at a mortuary, identified clothing found at the Drotleff home, and Ethel Gilbert, a courthouse stenographer, read questions and answers of a jail interview with the defendant by Prosecutor Karl Stouffer.

BEHIND YOUR DOCTOR STANDS YOUR DRUGGIST

When you enter a tall building, you have faith that the builder so constructed it that it will not come down around your ears. This is the type of faith your doctor has in his druggist. He knows that trained pharmacy is a right arm to medicine—that those who "build" prescriptions do so with an expertness that knows not the saying: "To err is human!"

Airmen Bomb Roads and Bridges in Vicinity of Embattled Abbeville

The air ministry reported the attacks, evidently directed at air force airdromes, were ineffective.

In a drastic step against a surprise invasion by night, the admiralty set up a three-mile curfew zone for merchant ships around the United Kingdom.

The American embassy urged all Americans without urgent reasons for remaining in the United Kingdom to return home this month because it might be their last opportunity before the war ends.

The ministry of home security, declaring "the testing time has come," disclosed plans for immediate mass instruction of the public in air raid precautions.

DE KRUIF PRODS HEALTH CHIEFS

Claims Tuberculosis Can Be Eradicated In Generation

SAN FRANCISCO—Tuberculosis can be virtually eradicated within a generation, according to Dr. Paul DeKruif, originator and operator of the "Detroit plan" for tubercular control, and author of "Microbe Hunters" and other best sellers.

In what he declared to be his first public address, Dr. DeKruif appeared before the San Francisco Tuberculosis Association, dared the city to wipe out tuberculosis and urged it to battle the white plague on the basis of cold cash. He declared that by spending $100,000 annually on the system which he has inaugurated and operated at Detroit for the past five years, the city could save more than $3,000,000 annually.

Would Cost Taxpayers

"But this money probably won't be appropriated," he asserted, "because the San Francisco Board of Supervisors wants to stay in office and won't raise the tax rate."

He declared that Detroit by an expenditure of $500,000 since 1935 has recorded a saving of $1,500,000 in its care of tubercular patients.

"Your tubercular experts here tell me they have reduced the death rate by half, but there is still enough tuberculosis in San Francisco to cost the taxpayers $3,000,000 a year. Half the patients in this county hospital are there with tuberculosis, and you can save all that by spending a little money now."

"But I don't know," he added, "if any supervisor will dare to do it."

BRICKER COMPLAINS
Editor The News:

I feel that Salem tax payers have a right to know the true details about neglect of city officials to repair the water line leak on South Lincoln near State, before repairing the street.

The leak has been plain for over six weeks. I personally told the mayor about three weeks ago. Tuesday night Councilman Renkenberger told council that he personally went to water works three weeks ago and told Sam Pasco. The mayor no doubt was sincere in his alibi Tuesday night, but the proof is right there on the street. What it will cost the city extra for their neglect.

A 10 year old boy would know that if it had been repaired three weeks ago the resurfacing could have been done on schedule, merely leaving the place dug up to be all patched later, as they will have to do now, and not had an extra 25 square yards besides the two or three square yards the mayor told council it would involve.

Pleas of too busy don't go with me. Mr. Mayor and service director, give a few of the city boys a pick and shovel in place of a small city truck to loaf around in, killing time that tax payers pay 50 cents an hour for, and you won't have to wait for the old city stand-by men to get to the job.

If Mayor Phillips wants my continued support he will try to see that his administration comes up close to his 100% ability, and likewise city council who appropriate the money and should pull for efficient service or resign their jobs.

sions in the western offensive, including five "panzer" or armored divisions of about 1,500 vehicles each, including armored motorcycles.

These attacking divisions are backed up by some of the 65 divisions which swept through Holland and Belgium and now are resting in reserve, while 20 Nazi divisions were reported ranged along the Siegfried line. The French divisions in Weygand's defense line are spread over a 200-mile front while the Nazis have concentrated power at points of their offensive.

Land Equipment

Despite reported heavy losses of artillery left behind following the Dunkerque withdrawal of the northern Allied forces, the French still are said to maintain their superiority in this category. The French were said to be "pitifully weak" in mechanized equipment, however, since much of their equipment rushed into Belgium was abandoned during the retreat.

Air Strength

All sources agree that the Allies are seriously outnumbered in the air—especially since the threat of Italian intervention and German air raids on the Rhone valley forced the French to send many crack fighters to the south.

Hedge To Study

CANFIELD, June 7.—J. C. Hedge, Mahoning county agricultural extension agent, has been granted an extended leave of absence in order that he might enroll at the University of Wisconsin to take courses in dairy husbandry, adult education and rural economics.

Italian War Planes—Are They Ready to Go?

Are these Italian war planes ready to take off against the Allies? Europe is tense as Italian planes are tri-motored Caproni bombers.

Gibraltar, British "Rock," Under Double Threat

Here is an excellent view of Gibraltar, Great Britain's fortress at the entrance to the Mediterranean now under a double threat of attack from the Mediterranean and from the Spanish mainland. In Madrid, demonstrations were staged for the return of the fortified "rock" to Spain. If Italy enters the war against the Allies, the "rock" will be a principal target of attack.

ART AWARDS GO TO 3 ATHLETES

Football Star, Boxer and All-Around Athlete Given Honors

AUSTIN, Tex.—Athletes are becoming artists.

A star football end, a boxing sailor and a former three-letter high school athlete have been named winners of the first University of Texas arts scholarship.

George Buffington of Navasota, Tex., who spent two years as a sailor on an oil tanker and who now fights in Golden Gloves tournaments, will get one of the Harriet F. Batts scholarships in the college of fine arts.

"If they hadn't opened the college of fine arts this year, I probably would have been an engineer," Buffington said. He transferred from the college of arts and sciences to enter the school of fine arts.

"Anyhow, it proves one thing," Buffington said. "Artists aren't sissies."

Luther Bookout, Jr., of Santa Rosa an award winner, was an all-around athlete in high school. His name was known at that time throughout South Texas, but not for his athletic prowess. He said he had abandoned varsity athletics for intra-mural games. He formerly drew sports cartoons for the Brownsville Herald.

Joe Schwartz, former all-state grid end at Waco high school, has made the dormitory for athletes where he stays oil portrait conscious.

"I'd rather go in for this kind of work than athletics, when I get out of college," Schwartz said. "I think you will find that lots of athletic coaches, however, do painting or drawing on the side."

The winning examples of the work of the three award winners show essential qualities of great art, Ward Lockwood, chairman of the art department, said.

BROCKTON, Mass.—Clarence W. Lowell, gasoline station attendant, has built a 2-foot long model of a racing automobile that travels 50 to 60 miles an hour. It is powered by a one-cylinder gasoline motor.

Malta Prepared as Italy Cries "Persecution"

Intensive press (controlled) attacks on Great Britain by Italian newspapers, which allege British persecution of Italian minority in Malta, tactics employed by Nazis before an invasion, is viewed by observers to presage early entry of Italy in the war. It is believed Mussolini's first target will be Malta, sixty miles from Sicily (map, right) great Allied naval base, vulnerable to air attack but a tough nut to crack by sea. Top, is Valetta's waterfront, with British ships in the harbor. Bottom, left, one of the guns which ring the island.

"Spoiled Girl" by LUCILLE MARSH JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS
Gabrielle Snow, lovely 18-year-old daughter of wealthy Samuel Snow, an oil magnate, falls in love with Peter Parsons, a handsome young soda clerk. Peter, however, is a talented pianist, a promising vocalist, and aspires to become a composer. Gabrielle's parents object to the match because Peter has no social background. So one night, while out riding with Gabrielle's friend, Dorothy Mackey, and the latter's fiancé, Tony, Gaby and Peter decide to get married immediately. It is 3 a. m., and they have to wait until the license bureau opens. Tony prevails upon Dotty to make it a double wedding. After the ceremony, Gabrielle recalls that her uncle's will stipulated that if she married before she was 21, she would not get her inheritance until she became 35. "I'm glad of it," Peter announces. "I'd never married you if I'd known you had so much money. Now I'll have to be dependent on you. They return home to face the music. When Gabrielle introduces Peter as her husband her mother nods coolly, then excuses herself and goes upstairs. Mr. Snow threatens to have the marriage annulled, but when Gabrielle convinces him that she really loves Peter, he gives them his blessing. Mrs. Snow offers financial help, insisting on supporting his wife himself, so the young couple rent an unpretentious $25-a-month apartment. Despite its plainness, Gabrielle awakens the first morning with a feeling of supreme happiness. She calls Peter who, upon seeing her, says, "Then it wasn't a dream!"

CHAPTER NINE
Gabrielle went back to sleep when Peter left for work. He had shaved and she had witnessed the ritual from her bed, so tiny was the apartment. She had loved the flaming feeling of witeliness this gave her. She loved his telling her there was no need of her getting his breakfast, as he could grab it at the fountain.
The apartment did not look so enchanting by daylight as it had by the light of the lamp. Upon investigation she discovered the reason the divan had been placed in such an awkward position across the corner of the room. It was not, as she had supposed, because of the poor taste of the person who had arranged it; alas! there was a large hole in the exact corner of the rug which made this imperative.
Straightening up as best she could, Gabrielle then took a bath, noting with alarm the low pressure of the water system, as well as the lack of a shower. There was no bath powder, and the towels were of appalling smallness. Well, she soliloquized, she could remedy these latter things.
She walked down to the nearest grocery store when she had dressed and called a taxi. At home again, she began, with Helen's help, to gather up all the things which she felt would beautify her living quarters. She refused nothing which her mother offered her.
Trip after trip was made to the little apartment on Apple Tree street. One gnarled old apple tree, presumably gave it its name, although the landlady offered the information that once, long ago, there had been a large apple orchard here. The one lone tree stood at the corner close to the apartment house and seemed the only venerable thing of beauty in the short thoroughfare.
Violet, much against her will, was talked into going over to the small place and doing the heavy work. A new rug was laid, curtains were hung, and the rooms fixed up to the extent that it was hardly the same place. With the flower pictures from Gabrielle's own room, and up he came into the room, grinning happily.

"I've a letter from my cousin in New York, Gaby!" he exclaimed.
Then—he stopped. A queer expression came over his face as he looked around the newly furnished apartment. Gabrielle thought, with a somehow guilty feeling, that he looked bewildered and hurt.
"Don't you like it, Peter?" she asked, trying to smile.
He stood gazing at the rug, his face a study. Suddenly he raised his eyes to hers and there was cold fury in them.
"I suppose your mother did this?" His tone was low and he seemed to be breathing with difficulty.

NEEDY FIND AID IN HANDICRAFT

Impoverished People are Taught To Make Numerous Things

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—Miss Minnie Reese has not yet started teaching her pupils to make silk purses out of sows' ears, but they are waiting to hear the word.

She is director of a welfare crafts shop located in the basement of Asheville's city hall. Impoverished men and women who come to her have learned to:

Carve ashtrays and miscellaneous articles from scrap wood.

Make other ashtrays and letter openers from discarded pieces of metal.

Turn honeysuckle vines into baskets.

Excerpt dyes from ordinary red clay.

Hook rugs from worn-out silk hose.

Make doormats and straw hats from corn shucks.

Fashion gourds into dolls.

Miss Reese conducts her classes five days each week, with special days devoted to each of the varied arts. Some of the students, she said, merely want to learn some useful hobby, but the majority are in need of a job that can support them.

"One woman student has sold 10 rugs," she said, "and another is so good at woodcarving that she sells her work through one of the shops here. Last year we taught a blind boy to weave, and he does a rug a day. They are sold even before they are finished, and he now has a loom of his own."

The shop itself is furnished with the students' handwork, including the curtains. They are dyed with her red clay dye, which has also been used on cloth sent out of the state to former North Carolinians. She said they "simply like to have some North Carolina mud near them."

The success of the classes, sponsored by the state, the county schools, adult educational groups and the city council of women's clubs, has resulted in enlarging working quarters. Six new looms will be added to the 11 now in use, and space for additional work tables will be provided.

SNEAD IS BACK AGAIN IN ROLE OF GOLF PACER

Leads Field In National Open Tournament At Cleveland

BY EARL HILLMAN
CLEVELAND, June 7.—The field in the 44th National Open golf championship answered the second round bell today, convinced that "slamming Sam" Snead—knocked out a year ago by one of sport's greatest blow-ups—is off the floor and punching harder than ever.

Long an outstanding power player, Snead garnished his distance-getting ability with a brilliant display of putting and approaching yesterday to come in with a remarkable five under par card of 25-34-37, the greatest first round performance in National Open history.

Two-Stroke Lead
This gave the young Shawnee-on-Lake, Pa., professional a two-stroke lead on the pack as it started a second 18-hole trek over the Canterbury course, and had practically every one believing that Sam has recovered fully from that disastrous final-hole eight which robbed him of the open crown at Philadelphia in 1939.

Snead, who never has won a major championship even though he has been a big money and tournament winner since 1937, produced a game as hot as the sun which baked the Canterbury layout. His performance made him the first round leader in three of the last four years.

Two strokes off the sizzling pace were Horton Smith of the Chicago district, Ed Oliver of Hornell, N. Y., and Sam Parks, Jr., of Pittsburgh, who won the open title in 1935. Smith and Oliver had nines of 35-34, while Parks went out in 34, two under par, and home in 35, one under regulation figures.

Hogget Hits 70
The 70 hogget listed battering Ben Hogan of Dublin, Tex., big money winner of the year, who had 37-33; Al Huske, a "husky" professional from DeKalb, Ill., and the veteran Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., both had 35-35.

Playing around in 71 were Leonard Gibson of Kansas City; Gene Sarazen, two time open champion from Brookfield Center, Conn.; Bob Babbitt, of the University of Detroit, low scoring amateur of the day; Andrew Gibson of Baltimore and Henry Kaiser of Racine, Wis.

The defending champion, Byron Nelson of Toledo, was laying back in a fine spot to make his bid today and on tomorrow's final round of 36 holes. He had par nines of 36-36. With him were Craig Wood, Sam Byrd, Matt Kowal, Lawson Little and Leonard Dodson.

Blue Sox To Face Leetonia Tonight
The Salem Blue Sox will face the Leetonia Merchants at 5:30 p.m. today at Tolerton's field in the first of two games scheduled for the Salem team this weekend.

The Sox will be in action again Sunday, meeting the Sebring A. C. at 2:30 p. m. at Tolerton's field.

SALEM POLO CLUB MEETS AKRON TEAM SUNDAY

SALEM RIDERS MAKE DELAYED HOME OPENING

Reorganized Akron Bar K Cowboys Invade Local Field

Prevented from swinging into action last week by rain, the Salem Polo club will open its 1940 season Sunday against the reorganized Akron Bar K Cowboys.

The game, scheduled to start at 3 p. m., will be played at the Salem club's new field on the County Line rd., near the intersection of the Goshen rd.

Rained Out Twice
The Salem riders were scheduled to open their home season Memorial day, but rain forced cancellation of the game. Again last Sunday, they were rained out of a scheduled game at Canfield.

The game with Akron was arranged this week to fill an open date on the schedule. It will have no bearing on the Penn-Ohio league race since the Cowboys are not affiliated with the league this season.

The Salem club is idle in the week as Pittsburgh, North Hills, plays Canfield and Zelenople, Pa., meets Alliance.

The Cowboys, winner of the Penn-Ohio championship for two years in a row, dropped out of the league this year when three of their players moved their horses to the Canfield Fairgrounds to play for the newly-organized Canfield team.

Green Leads Team
The Akron team which will appear here Sunday includes only one veteran from the squad which galloped triumphantly through the Penn-Ohio league for two successive seasons. The lone veteran on the Cowboys' present squad is round Harvey Green, one of the most colorful players in the district.

Green will lead a team composed of Fadd, Dargo and Patterson, all capable players with indoor and outdoor experience. Green's teammates have all appeared in Salem in at least one game in the last four years.

Riding against the Cowboys will be the Salem club's veteran squad of J. B. (Pete) Votaw, James A. Pidgeon, Jr., Anthony Sheen, Raymond M. Moff and Wilford R. Smith.

Five new horses, recently purchased by members of the Salem club, are expected to see action in the game.

And Out Into the World They Go

Graduation day for thousands of high school and college students is at hand. And out go young men and women into the world to make their living. Success or failure? These graduates are at Bryn Mawr, Pa., in their colorful procession.

Theatre Attractions

George Raft and Joan Bennett form a new co-starring film team in "The House Across the Bay", exciting drama of a lucky gambler and the girl singer he loved, which shows at the State tonight and Saturday.

Lloyd Nolan, Gladys George, Walter Pidgeon, June Knight, Peggy Shannon and Edward Fielding are seen in supporting roles.

A gambler whose luck breaks when his too-smart lawyer double crosses him and a girl who finds waiting for a husband who must spend ten years behind prison bars, lonely, are the central figures in the involved romantic theme.

George Raft has the type of role he does best, while Miss Bennett is equally at home as the beauty upon whom is showered fine clothes and all manner of luxuries. Walter Pidgeon again eclipses the leading player in a second best role, as the airplane manufacturer who loves the gambler's wife. Lloyd Nolan's work and the performance of Miss George lend solid background to the story.

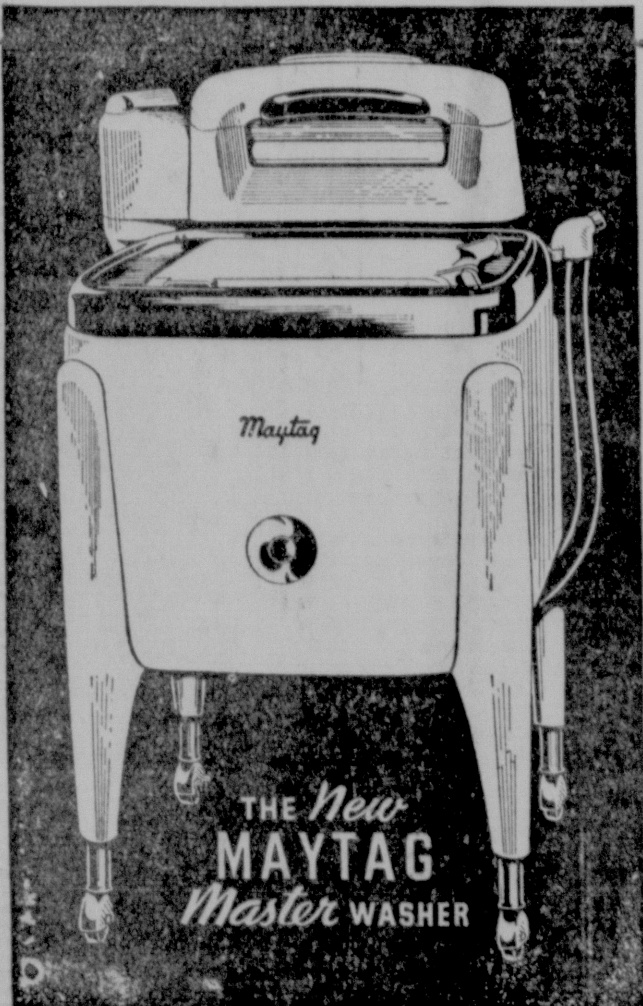

At the Grand Friday and Saturday is Gene Aubry's newest musical western, "Gaucha Serenade", featuring Smiley Burnette, Mary Lee and June Story.

SAN JOSE, Cal.—Mrs. M. Smith, 74, of Los Angeles, has taken issue with the findings of two scientists of Stanford university who declared that such a thing as an "eye bug" which washes out the eye and lives almost endlessly, does not exist. She declared she has had an "eye bug" ever since 1883, uses it repeatedly and that it becomes active every time she dips it in vinegar.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—Miss Zoe Holliday, a telephone operator, didn't mind so much when a burglar robbed her home of 17 articles of clothing, but when he took time to cook himself a meal and left the dishes unwashed—well, that was taking advantage of the situation, she said.
